10:13:02 From Maureen Shenher : Thanks very much for NCDD for the opportunity to participate in this webinar discussion today.

10:13:47 From Brenda Ritenour ESF23 : In Boulder we have cancelled all in person meetings for now, except City Council. We are holding some meetings online with GoogleTeams and some on conference calls or Zoom. We will pilot telephone town halls for City Council and are considering what might work for project engagement.

10:14:04 From Sara Drury : Kevia, could you please share the google docs link again?

10:14:24 From Keiva Hummel, @ncdd : Yes! It's right there. Let me know if you have any issues accessing it

10:14:45 From Jan Davidson : No problem opening it, thanks Keiva!

10:17:45 From Courtney Breese : I know we have a lot of folks - if you feel you are having a hard time chiming in, feel free to "raise your hand" in the app

10:19:14 From Brenda RIttenour ESF23 : I'm not seeing where to raise a hand.

10:19:14 From Robbi : I'm curious if the resources document might be able to be sorted or marked via free or paid services? For groups working in the community, meeting in person is also often inexpensive, if community centres or churches donate space

10:19:15 From Marie Lagier : In Quebec City we have also cancelled all public meetings. The city council keeps on meeting but without public in the room. There is a webcast and on local TV however.

10:19:31 From Courtney Breese : Robbi - that's an interesting idea. We'll look at that!

10:19:39 From Diane Miller : Here is a Covid-19 resource list that a group of non-profits across the country has put together. It is pretty broad-ranging list of resources (not just facilitation resources). <https://docs.google.com/document/d/1k5pC-R1V4SK4bRPN7cq9WpIsubXP5tt8qpF5hinMoQ/preview>

10:21:48 From Diane Miller : To raise hand, click on participants, which pops up when you move your cursor to the center bottom of the screen. You'll see it then in the chat (blue raised hand).

10:22:48 From Chuck Crumpton : For those interested in training in videoconference facilitation/mediation, Susan Guthrie's are excellent at www.learntomEDIATEonline.com

10:27:07 From Peggy Holman : This experience is mobilizing tremendous innovation. We forging new pathways that I suspect what we will continue to develop because this will happen again. There hasn't been much coverage about pandemics as a result of climate change but the connection is there.

10:41:25 From LZordan : Hi all,

10:41:51 From Patricia Carmody : Great idea...

10:42:33 From Resolutions Northwest : On that note - Do folks who use Zoom have favorite intro videos for participants?

10:42:56 From LZordan : What sort of timing are you looking at for starting to engage online? Do you think there needs to be a bit of time / break for the general public before they can dedicate the headspace to a public engagement topic?

10:43:23 From Susan McCormack : I am also interested in virtual “ice-breakers” and would love hear people’s ideas about that.

10:43:24 From Karen : Have other municipalities or government organizations been having conversations about the ethics of engaging on business as usual during the crisis, and how people are assessing when is the right time to go out again?

10:43:37 From Peggy Holman : The Art of Hosting community is hosting a call like this one at 4pm PT today

10:43:47 From erin senior : That's a really good question. Should we be waiting until April to try and engage our communities about other topics?

10:46:49 From Resolutions Northwest : Thanks Lydia!

10:47:49 From Jan Davidson : I am SO EXCITED for that, Courtney!

10:48:09 From Adriene B. Wright : Adriene to Everyone: Who was the person who talked about developing a an Ethical Guide to address HIPPA compliance? Could I have your contact information?

10:48:09 From Jan Davidson : We've been talking for the last couple months about CCs online, and we're really excited to see how it might work.

10:50:23 From Brenda Ritenour ESF23 : We are inviting our staff members who are considering online engagement for their projects to really lean into the fundamentals - What input to they truly need from the community? Will this conversation feel relevant to community members at this time? Can they fulfill the promises of engagement at this time? Some work must continue, and it is a great opportunity to brush up our critical planning eye.
