

09:56:29 From Susan Partnow : Welcome! Susan Partnow in Seattle

09:56:32 From Liz Dubelman : Liz Dubelman Santa Monica, CA USA

09:56:36 From Janice Thomson : Greetings from Paris, France where we're in our second week of lock-down. (I'm American though.)

09:56:38 From Amy Phillips : Hello, Amy Phillips Denver

09:56:45 From Linda : Linda from Colorado here. Greetings!

09:56:45 From Paula Dennison : Stillwater, OK

09:56:47 From Missy : Hello! Missy

09:56:54 From Joel : hi everyone - I'm Joel Mills, in Herndon, VA (20 miles west of Washington DC)

09:56:56 From Missy : Edwardsville IL

09:57:01 From Rhonda Bergeron : Rhonda from Rhode Island

09:57:20 From Pam Korza : Greetings folks! Pam Korza in Amherst MA. I work with Americans for the Arts and the Animating Democracy program.

09:57:23 From Kathy McGrane : Kathy in Anoka MN north of Minneapolis on the Rum River where it goes into the Mississippi

09:57:26 From Lori Lewis : saying hello from oakland ca

09:57:38 From lloydhansen : Greetings from Minneapolis

09:57:52 From Michelle Laurie : Joining from BC, Canada. Will turn on video shortly, tending to task for a couple minutes. Apologies.

09:58:23 From Barb Pedersen : Barb Pedersen in Calgary Alberta Canada. I will need to leave before the cafe ends. I look forward to learning and sharing while i am on.

09:58:45 From Ron Gross, Conversations New York : Ron Gross in NYC at Conversations New York (www.conversationsnewyork.com). SO GOOD TO SEE YOU ALL!

09:59:12 From Lucas Cioffi : Lucas Cioffi north of NYC

10:00:37 From Prabha S : Exactly! only if you have a green screen option

10:00:43 From Jenny Pell : Aloha from Maui!

10:01:02 From Marilene Richardson : Aloha Jenny!

10:02:15 From Prabha S : Great job on the tips!

10:03:31 From Tamar Ben-Ur : Hi from Austin TX

10:04:00 From Felicia Washington : Hi from Northern Virginia

10:04:22 From Tom Atlee : Tom Atlee here from Eugene Oregon

10:04:31 From Bob Oberstein : Hi from north of Seattle.

10:04:48 From Srividya Ramasubramanian : Hi from Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas

10:04:51 From Cheryl Graeve : Hi from Bowie, MD (DC area)

10:04:56 From Leda Cooks : hi from my bunker in western mass

10:05:02 From Rob Alexander : Greetings from the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia and James Madison University . . .

10:05:18 From Marilene Richardson : Snohomish, WA

10:05:34 From Mary Boone : Hi from Essex CT!

10:05:48 From Christine Koehler : Hi from Paris

10:05:49 From Kim A Page : Hello from London, UK

10:06:04 From arwen : Hello from Rome, Italy

10:06:06 From Jeff Prudhomme : Greetings from Reston, Virginia!

10:06:27 From Lina Cramer : Hello from Chicago!

10:06:31 From susan stuart clark : Hello from San Rafael — great to see so many familiar faces!

10:06:40 From Sandy Heierbacher : Hi from Boston, everyone!

10:06:44 From Luca Salvini : Hello from Italy

10:06:48 From lilliantsuerhi : Hi from Cambridge, MA! :)

10:06:55 From Jack Park : Temecula California

10:06:56 From Lori Baugh Littlejohns : Hi from BC Canada

10:06:57 From Ona Ferguson : Also sending greetings from Boston (Somerville!) MA

10:07:03 From Seb Salazar : Hello from Atlantic Canada

10:07:04 From Kim Crowley : Welcome from Hartford, CT.

10:07:07 From Nancy Kranich : Hello from New Jersey—# 2 in the nation in CORVID-19 cases. We're waving from home!

10:07:07 From preandranoel : Hello! I'm from Cambridge, MA too!

10:07:12 From Prabha S : Hello, from Pittsburgh

10:07:13 From Martha Machnik : Hello from Rhode Island!

10:07:17 From Tracy : Good morning all from Isolating in San Jose. Sorry, breakfast time.

10:07:53 From Barb, Minnesota, USA : Hi! I'm in Stillwater Minnesota, USA

10:07:53 From jmr : Greetings from Sacramento, CA. I'm working for a public radio newsroom so monitoring a few other channels or now and, thus, not on video. Will aim to get visual when possible

10:07:58 From kate : Hello Everyone From Seattle, Wa.

10:08:45 From Stephanie Barko : Hi from Austin, ya'll. The media says we have tests, but we don't.

10:08:54 From Martine Culbertson : Hi from Haddonfield NJ & Zeist Netherlands

10:08:56 From Lina Cramer : How do you connect to the World Cafe??

10:09:46 From Barb, Minnesota, USA : would it be possible for you to share the link to your slides here in the chat?

10:09:59 From Susan Partnow : World Cafe is a beloved 'cousin' - we worked together on LTA Lets Talk America in 2003.... CC is more intimate and heart based... you'll see!

10:18:52 From Daniel Baron : Will we be receiving the powerpoint?

10:20:39 From Lori Baugh Littlejohns : what is the difference between CC and World Café?

10:21:38 From Wendy Lowe : I like those cards. Can they be purchased?

10:22:27 From jmr : Thanks for letting me back in Courtney - the network here is a tad overwhelmed

10:22:41 From Courtney Breese : Hi All - the powerpoint can be provided afterward (sorry I can't grab it for you right now)

10:22:42 From Jack Park : I've seen events where someone just would not put down the talking stone.

10:23:19 From Vicki Robin : great question Lori Baugh Littlejohns. CCs are for people who may not know one another and have separate lives to engage in meaningful personally enriching conversation about what's important. world cafe is usually a formed group that want to harvest the wisdom of the whole group for the group to move forward more wisely.

10:24:38 From Lori Baugh Littlejohns : hmmm ... personally enriching conversations

10:25:04 From Sandy Heierbacher : Wendy asked if the cards can be purchased. Yes! I have some left in stock and so does Courtney. You can email me at sandyheierbacher@gmail.com or Courtney at courtney@ncdd.org to arrange something. We usually just charge shipping if you just need a few, and a little fee for larger orders.

10:25:06 From Jack Park : <http://ncdd.org/rc/wp-content/uploads/2010/06/ConvCafeHostManual.pdf>

10:25:38 From Wendy Lowe : Thanks Jack!

10:25:54 From Rob Alexander : How do the RJ practitioners in this group discern between CC and a 'dialogue circle' that draws on circle process principles?

10:26:31 From Jack Park : <http://www.ala.org/tools/librariestransform/libraries-transforming-communities/conversation-caf%C3%A9>

10:26:35 From Prabha S : I think many similarities...variations of a lot of beautiful processes Rob

10:26:52 From Wendy Lowe : Thanks Sandy!

10:27:38 From claudiacanasto : Hi everyone! It's John from Hoboken. So glad to be here with this wonderful group! :-)

10:27:54 From Courtney Breese : Open-mindedness: listen to and respect all points of view.
Acceptance: suspend judgment as best you can.
Curiosity: seek to understand rather than persuade.
Discovery: question assumptions, look for new insights.
Sincerity: speak from your heart and personal experience.

Brevity: go for honesty and depth but don't go on and on.

10:28:49 From Miriam Messinger, IISC, she/her : Good question. to me, it seems like it borrows from circle processes but not with same intent. Less grounded in a known community. I am curious about racial justice principles within this

10:29:24 From Rob Alexander : Thanks, Miriam - that is my discernment, too.

10:29:48 From Sharon Kniss : RJ talking circles are less "controlled" and don't often have the open third round as described here. Also key groundings in values, etc. Also no particular limit of number of people. I sometimes distinguish within RJ practice between a "restorative justice Circle", a "talking circle" and a "dialogue circle" - core principles are what hold the practice together with integrity. However, overall CC seems very similar.

10:30:08 From Rob Alexander : Great question about underlying justice principles. Do you see the standard guidelines we are reviewing as incorporating those?

10:31:40 From susan stuart clark : Are these wonderful guidelines available in Spanish?

10:32:18 From Ron Gross, Conversations New York : OVER-TALKERS ANONYMOUS: AKA ON AND ON AND ON AND ON ANON

10:32:36 From Kim Fons : I agree

10:32:46 From Courtney Breese : Hi Susan - we do have materials in a couple of languages - I'll try to grab links during the Cafe

10:33:13 From julia : I agree.

10:33:26 From Courtney Breese : Also that great graphic I just shared was created by Sandy Heierbacher: <http://www.conversationcafe.org/wp-content/uploads/2020/03/CCs-Online.pdf>

10:33:28 From Kim Crowley : How do we include people who are in phones in agreeing?

10:34:01 From Liz Dubelman : Good question

10:34:02 From Courtney Breese : Hi Kim - we could have them un-mute to verbally agree, if they cannot raise their hand on video or virtually

10:35:42 From Nicole Farkouh : the example responses Susan gave to redirect common challenges related to certain norms were really helpful. is there a collection of such responses anywhere that could be shared?

10:35:57 From Courtney Breese : "Host: begin each round; everyone should be on mute during the two rounds - you indicate who should unmute when it is their turn as you go around the circle so everyone speaks once. During the Open Conversation, help 'direct traffic:' each speaker can designate who goes next after they speak - and they can watch for participants who raise their physical hand. When you receive the message to begin the Closing Round, ask everyone to mute again. Pause to reflect. Then indicate who should unmute to share, one by one."

10:36:49 From Sandy Heierbacher : How do you handle the talking object online?

10:37:30 From Liz Dubelman : Using the mute button . When you're unmute - you have the talking object

10:37:36 From Rob Alexander : I believe that the 'mute' button is the object - that we release the object when we mute ourselves.

10:39:19 From Srividya Ramasubramanian : If someone joins late, can they still join a breakout room?

10:40:27 From Kim Crowley : Srividya, the technology does allow you to add people late.

10:41:35 From Courtney Breese : Round 1: Share your thoughts and feelings about the Pandemic...

Round 2: How could CCs be of support

Open Conversation: What's next? How do we move forward? What's your role?

10:42:58 From Kim Crowley : I like to use "after the hour" to avoid confusion.

10:53:43 From Martine Culbertson : Breakout Room 18 - Sorry tried highlighting my name under participant and doesn't provide any mute option - only rename - no audio symbol but am listening

11:28:25 From Victor Perton : May I offer Free membership Centre for Optimism centreforoptimism.com send me an email victorperton@gmail.com

11:29:29 From Rollie Cole : Here in Austin TX, we are in the best weather of the year -- flowers are blooming, not hot yet.

11:30:15 From Brenda Ritenour : The ability to go deep quickly is welcome and compelling!

11:30:41 From Ryan Solomon : good to meet people from across country/countries, connect in difficult times

11:30:47 From Jen Schmidt : Finding common ground quickly

11:31:03 From Kim A Page : tenderness and support right there

11:31:09 From Rollie Cole : My takeaway -- value of same-time gatherings overcoming the costs of getting people together-- even in a virtual environment

11:31:11 From Tara Martin-Milius : Challenges of tech for making this work for everyone on multiple platforms is a bit awkward.

11:31:13 From claudiacanasto : Wow! I'm so grateful for this time to connect and be together. Thank you to the leaders of this group for doing this.

11:31:14 From Mary Boone : We did go deeply and we shared the hosting responsibility

11:31:15 From CharlotteY : When people are on different "modes" (e.g., only chat, versus via voice) is sometimes difficult to jump from the different modes

11:31:22 From Mary Thompson : Willingness to take a risk and try this new connection. Learning moment. . . caused by the virus.

11:31:25 From CharlotteY : lovely to hear people's similar experiences

11:31:30 From Stephanie Barko : We were from all three coasts and DC. Good stuff!

11:31:34 From Tracy : We had a great conversation in group 11. Talked about our commonalities in worries on connecting, working, and supporting one another. We thought of ways to utilize CC and other means of connecting with Ben Franklin Circles, Common Ground, Living Room Conversations - all by bringing individuals virtually together over sharing a drink, meal, etc. WE need to be our own advocates in brining community together.

11:31:36 From Anna Wolfe : Features/layout on these online technologies vary depending on devices participants are using— have to work together to navigate

11:31:38 From Karen Ramirez : amazing to meet people from all over and learn their stories. Wonderful to share experiences and resources.

11:31:40 From Martha Machnik : Value of togetherness and our collective humanity

11:31:41 From Anri : learned new perspectives and tips to better ourselves!

11:31:42 From Nancy Kranich : Taking responsibility to help CALM

11:31:45 From Lina Cramer : I see lots of ways to use this format / design. Thank you!

11:31:55 From Steve Brigham : Feel connected to the people I just met. Heartwarming and valuable.!

11:31:56 From xxc375 : acknowledge our feelings

11:31:58 From Martine Culbertson : To Richard, Christine and Kim - I was listening even though wasn't able to speak

11:32:05 From Tara Martin-Milius : I love the small group conversations, creates a more intimate experience ...

11:32:05 From Mary Thompson : Group 14 wants to reconnect in a month's time.

11:32:15 From Barb, Minnesota, USA : Look at what I have that I could give away to help those who have less to stay connected and move forward. E.g., by giving my spare electronics to schools.

11:32:16 From arwen : learning and sharing and agreeing that we have to experiment and learn and accept imperfection

11:32:16 From Tracy : Can you send out instructions for ZOOMING like this with large groups and facilitating for us new users to host?

11:32:20 From ***Egor Cusmaunsa : take responsibility and take care of others

11:32:30 From susan : Extremely authentic. Everyone wanting to help, share, exchange, and connect. Moving forward and growing! Advancing

11:32:42 From claudiacanasto : Will this be a weekly event? I hope so!

11:32:46 From Mary Boone : Feeling really grateful to you all for doing this session!

11:32:51 From Wendy Lowe to Courtney Breese(Privately) : I believe everyone in our small group would like to have access to each others' contact information with each of us. We were Wendy Lowe, Mary (no last name), Meg Griffiths, Nancy Kranich, and Daniel Baron. Is that possible.

11:32:54 From Rob Alexander : Is there a calendar for Conversation Cafes around the country where I could have my students sign up and join to participate?

11:32:54 From Joan - Texas : We feel that this may be the way of the future, but more training needed.

11:33:00 From Carolyn Penny : Thank you for hosting and moderating, Courtney and Susan! Thank you all for participating in such a generous spirit!

11:33:01 From Jeff Prudhomme : It worked well to get each of us connected and I came away with a sense of hopefulness of our better selves that we might carry forward beyond the time of pandemic.

11:33:03 From Tom Atlee : Need playfulness as we develop more and more online stuff and need/want to connect with each other = overwhelm unless we have a "let to and have fun" attitude

11:33:04 From Tara Martin-Milius : Nice way to share information and methods for managing connections...

11:33:06 From Mary Boone : My membership was just made worthwhile! I'm a new member.

11:33:09 From Marilene & Brian : People being real and vulnerable is beautiful

11:33:15 From Tracy : G'day! Victor!

11:33:33 From Rollie Cole : How does Zoom divide into groups? Is it random, order of joining, whatever?

11:33:52 From Seb Salazar : can we get some of the technical aspects of Zoom?

11:33:53 From Liz Dubelman : A facilitator does it

11:33:55 From Mary Boone : Rollie, you can assign people or do it randomly

11:33:59 From Rhonda Bergeron : You guys did a GREAT job! Thank you for sharing this with us.

11:34:04 From Ona Ferguson : Rollie Cole - you can have zoom divide people up randomly or you can assign people.

11:34:06 From claudiacanasto : One of the major TV show ought to feature you talking about this!

11:34:08 From susan stuart clark : Can you assign people to the break outs?

11:34:10 From Kathy McGrane - MN : The attachments to the invitation are excellent

11:34:11 From Srividya Ramasubramanian : Worked out great. Would love to hear about assigning folks to breakout groups.

11:34:12 From Kelly Ferrara : Rollie, you can do either randomly assignment of participants to breakouts or assign them

11:34:13 From Rob Alexander : Was this just a Zoom Pro subscriptions?

11:34:14 From Wendy Lowe : I think our group was struck by the opportunity to turn from a horror of the pandemic to a recommitment to what brings life to community. The deep listening was powerful.

11:34:40 From Martha Machnik : just wonderful! I felt really connected with my small group!

11:34:44 From susan stuart clark : Courtney and Susan — BIG thank you.

11:34:45 From Kelly Ferrara : Hi Wendy

11:35:04 From Tara Martin-Milius : Many thanks for the opportunity to do this...

11:35:04 From Ona Ferguson : Thank you! This was a helpful and peaceful interlude to the day and week.

11:35:07 From Wendy Lowe : Thank you so much about the opportunity to participate today.

11:35:12 From Kathy McGrane - MN : WE need to remember those who do not have connectivity ity

11:35:15 From Nicole Farkouh : really grateful for this. thank you!!

11:35:16 From Marilene & Brian : As a host, I couldn't see how to mute each person.

11:35:19 From Rollie Cole : I love the idea of random assignment; helps with the diversity. We need to have a common language (English in this case) -- but have no need to be in the same place.

11:35:27 From Amy Phillips : How do you support hosts in virtual rooms who don't have any facilitation experience?

11:35:30 From Marilene & Brian : It wasn't an issue but would be good to know

11:35:41 From Rhonda Bergeron : Zoom is offering free webinars to tran on the tech. Go to zoom.us and check it out.

11:35:50 From Pam Korza : Thank you so much. Will look forward to the learning. Do you feel there is an upper limit to the number of participants? Or does Zoom define an upper limit?

11:36:10 From Victor Perton : Optimism is difficult in these times. May I offer you inspiring thoughts and an optimism community. May I offer Free membership Centre for Optimism centreforoptimism.com send me an email victorperton@gmail.com

11:36:13 From claudiacanasto : Given the vital role of conversation in a democracy, why doesn't mainstream media feature conversations activists like YOU? No invites from Rachel Maddow?

11:36:18 From Joan - Texas : we talked about using it for neighborhood discussions and information

11:36:19 From Rollie Cole : I recommend playing with the "virtual background" feature; it takes away lots of the distraction of seeing "real places" behind you.

11:36:19 From Lisa Utter : Agree with Rollie Cole - about diversity

11:36:23 From CharlotteY : yay, yay using this as a positive transformation!

11:36:25 From Prabha S : Pam depending on your subscription- you can go up to 500

11:37:02 From Marilene & Brian : Hand Raised

11:37:15 From Rollie Cole : I used to run statewide video conferences; the advice most needed is to get adequate light on your face.

11:37:48 From Leda Cooks : I asked a question about the diversity of conversation cafes. Are they fairly homogenous in race and class background?

11:37:51 From Rollie Cole : Only about 2/3's of us have what professionals would consider adequate lighting of the speaker's face.

11:38:07 From Janice Thomson : I was struck by how much difficult young adults are having with confinement and communicating with each other in general. They more than anyone lack dialogue skills. Is there a way to train more young adults to use these kinds of simple communication methodologies + how might you reach them in the first place?

11:38:23 From David Gouthro : I have been on similar calls that were time bounded. Sometimes helpful to leave the conversation open for folks that want to stick around after "time is up". They can stay in the larger group or go back into breakouts.!

11:38:30 From Meg Griffiths : I recommend having another person to serve as a technical assistant to help with the back-end logistics with such a big group, to manage break-outs, chat box, questions, hand raises, etc. Someone who isn't facilitating/hosting and can focus on those things.

11:38:53 From Lydia Hooper : Are there best practices for using the chat during a virtual conversation like this?

11:38:59 From Michelle Laurie : Thanks to all and host. I have to leave but appreciate you setting this up and the opportunity to connect. Small groups function is really nice!

11:39:05 From Rollie Cole : I read the materials -- they were great! (But you could add my point about getting light on your face <grin>).

11:39:14 From Tara Martin-Milius : Agree Meg, 2 people works will for managing process

11:39:18 From Courtney Breese : Here are the additional materials we've created for you: <http://www.conversationcafe.org/for-hosts/resources-cafes-online/>

11:39:23 From Liz Dubelman : agreed about lightinh

11:39:24 From Rob Alexander : I see that Zoom is offering discounts for K-12 teachers. Anyone aware of anything to help higher education teacher finish the semester?

11:39:31 From Liz Dubelman : lighting

11:39:37 From Courtney Breese : www.ncdd.org/rc

11:39:52 From arwen : thank you so much, I need to get dinner on. I would like to participate in future ccs

11:40:10 From Eva (GIZ Global Leadership Academy) : Dear Courtney, thank you so much!

11:40:13 From Seb Salazar : 4 people in a breakout was perfect because we could all be on the same screen in gallery mode. does gallery mode allow more on one screen and maximum how many?

11:41:05 From Amy Phillips : Do we have questions we could use for the general public centered around the pandemic?

11:42:12 From Debbie Schechter : As the Zoom host can you visit the breakouts one by one to check on how they're doing?

11:42:27 From Courtney Breese : Hi Amy - there is a question doc on that link I just sent on the Conversation Café site

11:42:33 From claudiacanasto : How can awareness of real dialogue, such as we practiced here, be expanded to the larger society via our education system and media?

11:42:54 From Tara Martin-Milius : 8 people in a group leads to social loafing and not enough connection time in my experience.

11:43:00 From Sandy Heierbacher : I have to hop off in a minute, but people should join the Conversation Cafe facebook group and the National Coalition for Dialogue & Deliberation's facebook group to stay updated on future zoom calls, trainings, and new Conversation Cafe resources!

11:43:36 From jmr : Yes, that's correct, ZOOM is HIPPA compliant

11:43:50 From jmr : That's why therapists use it

11:43:56 From Lori Lewis : thanks sandy

11:44:06 From Courtney Breese : Telehealth is a tool therapists (and some mediators) are using for confidentiality as well

11:44:21 From Srividya Ramasubramanian : Can we use pseudonyms?

11:44:32 From David Gouthro : <https://compliance-group.com/is-zoom-hipaa-compliant/>

11:44:39 From Prabha S : Thank you for a great session. Bye,

11:44:39 From jmr : Correct!

11:45:28 From Victor Perton : Yesterday, our water corporation board took a photo of the Board meeting via Zoom to show the team we were working in the same environment.

11:46:20 From jmr : Thanks all - really useful and I send all of you good health, vision and community

11:47:03 From Kim A Page : you can have 49 screens at the same time

11:47:10 From Tracy : Need to leave. Everyone keep the faith, stay positive and healthy!

11:47:21 From Lydia Hooper : Here's an article on Zoom and privacy:
<https://blog.zoom.us/wordpress/2018/05/23/zoom-gdpr-compliance/>

11:47:57 From Tara Martin-Milius : Good for instant polls--all fill in info, at tone everyone posts at once.

11:48:07 From Kim A Page : John Bredin wants to talk

11:48:36 From Lori Lewis : that's why having co hosts can be helpful... one can look at chat

11:48:37 From Kathy McGrane - MN : The chat its better than people going to their email

11:48:56 From Barb, Minnesota, USA : Three hosts: tech, content and chat

11:49:01 From kate : Thank you each! I must go, and this was very valuable. Go well conversation warriors <3

11:49:22 From Joseph Patino : i remember you john

11:49:39 From Joseph Patino : the author

11:49:42 From Eva (GLAC) : We in the Thomas Huebl field always use the chat and we also work with 200+ participants sometimes, so far it always worked out smoothly, but yes, part of it is being centered in yourself and giving everyone the space you need

11:50:38 From Nancy Kranich : Can you summarize I a few sentences with the link for us to promote through our own networks?

11:50:59 From Lucas Cioffi : The “Mad Tea” facilitation technique is neat to use here in the chat where the facilitator asks a question like these and people fill in the blank, pause, and all hit “enter” at the same time. Examples:

- What first inspired me in this work is...

- Something we must learn to live with is...

More info from the Liberating Structures community of practice:

<http://www.liberatingstructures.com/mad-tea/>

11:51:07 From Jeff Prudhomme : For poll questions on zoom, can you write them in advance and then post them as needed?

11:52:31 From Susan Partnow : Yes Jeff: you create the poll in advance. You can also create the groups in advance

11:53:59 From Christine Koehler : Right now they don't limit the time to 45mn

11:54:14 From Liz Dubelman : Fantastic

11:54:34 From Courtney Breese : www.ncdd.org/donate

11:55:06 From John Bredin : Yes Liz...agreed....fantastic!

11:55:10 From Janice Thomson : Usually the first one or two times you use Zoom, they'll give you unlimited minutes (but don't tell you). I've also heard that during the pandemic, anyone with an .edu email address can get unlimited minutes.

11:55:37 From Tara Martin-Milius : here are the links from chat to this point:

11:56:33 From Victor Perton : Thanks - happy to help. Our central activity is asking people what makes you optimistic? Happy to help with cafes asking that question.

11:57:21 From Kim A Page : 2 rounds - no crossover talking - one final short round with reflection

11:57:24 From Victor Perton : Susan, you have been brilliant!!

11:57:30 From Kim Fons : I would love to be a part of a group that brings these about right now. Reach out to me directly after the session. I'd like more training so I can honor the process and do this well to best serve people. kim@bluewysteria.com

11:57:34 From Kim A Page : big thank you, this was great

11:57:37 From Srividya Ramasubramanian : Thank you so much! This is awesome.

11:57:38 From Marilene & Brian : I recall having someone tell me, back in the day of CC in coffee shops, that it was the first time they witnessed healthy communication even in opposing ideas. These conversations serve many needs. <3
